RAPID DEPLOYMENT MEDICAL FACILITIES

ON THE SCENE WHEN MINUTES COUNT

A disaster can strike any time, requiring a desperate need for shelter and medical facilities for both victims and emergency workers. Reeves Rapid Deployment Medical Facilities (RDMF) can be applied as emergency treatment, triage, life support or incident command areas immediately after a disaster within minutes of arrival at an incident.

The RDMF's patented, flexible design allows it to be set up or taken down quickly and efficiently without requiring the use of additional tools or dealing with loose parts. RDMFs are also durable enough to withstand extreme temperatures and harsh environmental conditions, such as wind, snow or driving rain, allowing for optimum shelter support wherever it is needed most.
